Dear Rob,

We at Horizons are always looking for ways to improve our productivity and are early adapters of the most current technologies. Many times, these technologies are "not ready for primetime" and we are left picking up the pieces. In the case of our recently purchased Crest die-cutting equipment we couldn't be more pleased. Our production manager told me we have gained 30% to 35% in productivity due to the fact set-ups are a breeze and there is no "make-ready". The training we received was fantastic and the press itself has not caused us any problems whatsoever.

I would like to sincerely thank you and your people for following through with everything you said you would do.

Best regards,

Mike Rish
